5. Sedans which arrived with visitors at the Central Commissary [redacted] each with one major and [redacted] with a captain.<sup>1</sup> 25X1
6. Giese (fnu), construction superintendent in charge, stated that the meeting and culture building located on Friedrichshoehe in Werder restricted area was to be reconstructed by 31 October 1953. The building was destroyed by fire on 22 May 1953. A general who personally supervised the construction work threatened severe punishment, in case the date fixed for completion should not be met. Forty Soviet soldiers were assigned to the construction site.
7. Every day between 22 and 28 August, a Li-2 landed at Werder airfield between 5 and 6 a.m. and around 6 p.m. The plane always took off again after 20 to 45 minutes. During the same period, local flights were made by single engine courier planes which were parked in front of the repair hangar.<sup>3</sup>
8. In late August 1953, a German construction superintendant stated that training courses for technical officers were continuously being held at Werder airfield. In early September 1953, a German mechanical engineer confirmed and supplemented the information, stating that six-week courses for staff engineers were concerned.
9. Trucks observed at Werder restricted area [redacted] with drivers wearing red-bordered black epaulets, [redacted] 25X1
10. In the afternoon on 22 August 1953 and during the following days, one Po-2 and Yak-14 practiced flying at Werder airfield. Night flying was also practiced. At about 1 p.m. on 25 August, a twin-engine aircraft was noticed at the field. The aircraft took off shortly after 1 p.m.<sup>3</sup> 25X1
11. On 23 August, Soviet officers were seen for the first time drinking alcohol in a German hotel at Werder at which a dance was arranged on the occasion of an FDJ public festival. The Soviet officers arrived and left in groups. Their behaviour was good. After the German women had refused to dance with them, they danced together.
